

6.7. Building and Site Sections

Two site wide sections, each across one axis must be provided as part of the master plan submission to DDA. The location of the sections must be selected to best illustrate significant topographical elements, changes in level or major elements in the master plan.

Providing additional sections is recommended to illustrate special features such as waterfront treatment or buildings with access to two different levels.

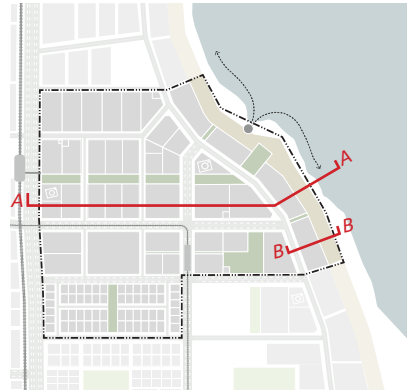

Figure 6.17: Section locations

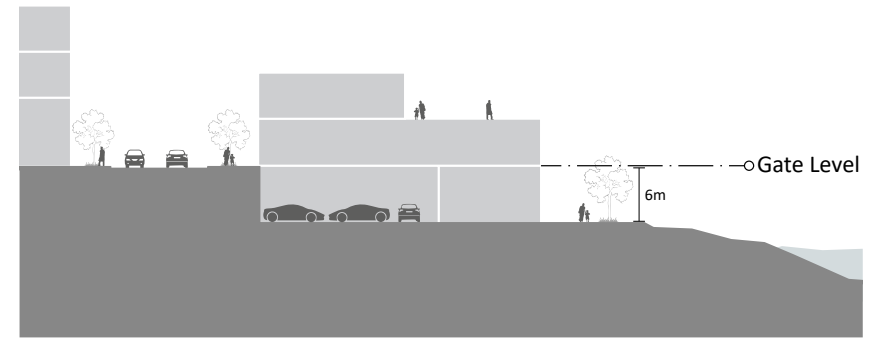

Figure 6.18: Example of additional sections (Section B-B: level difference between street level and beach frontage)

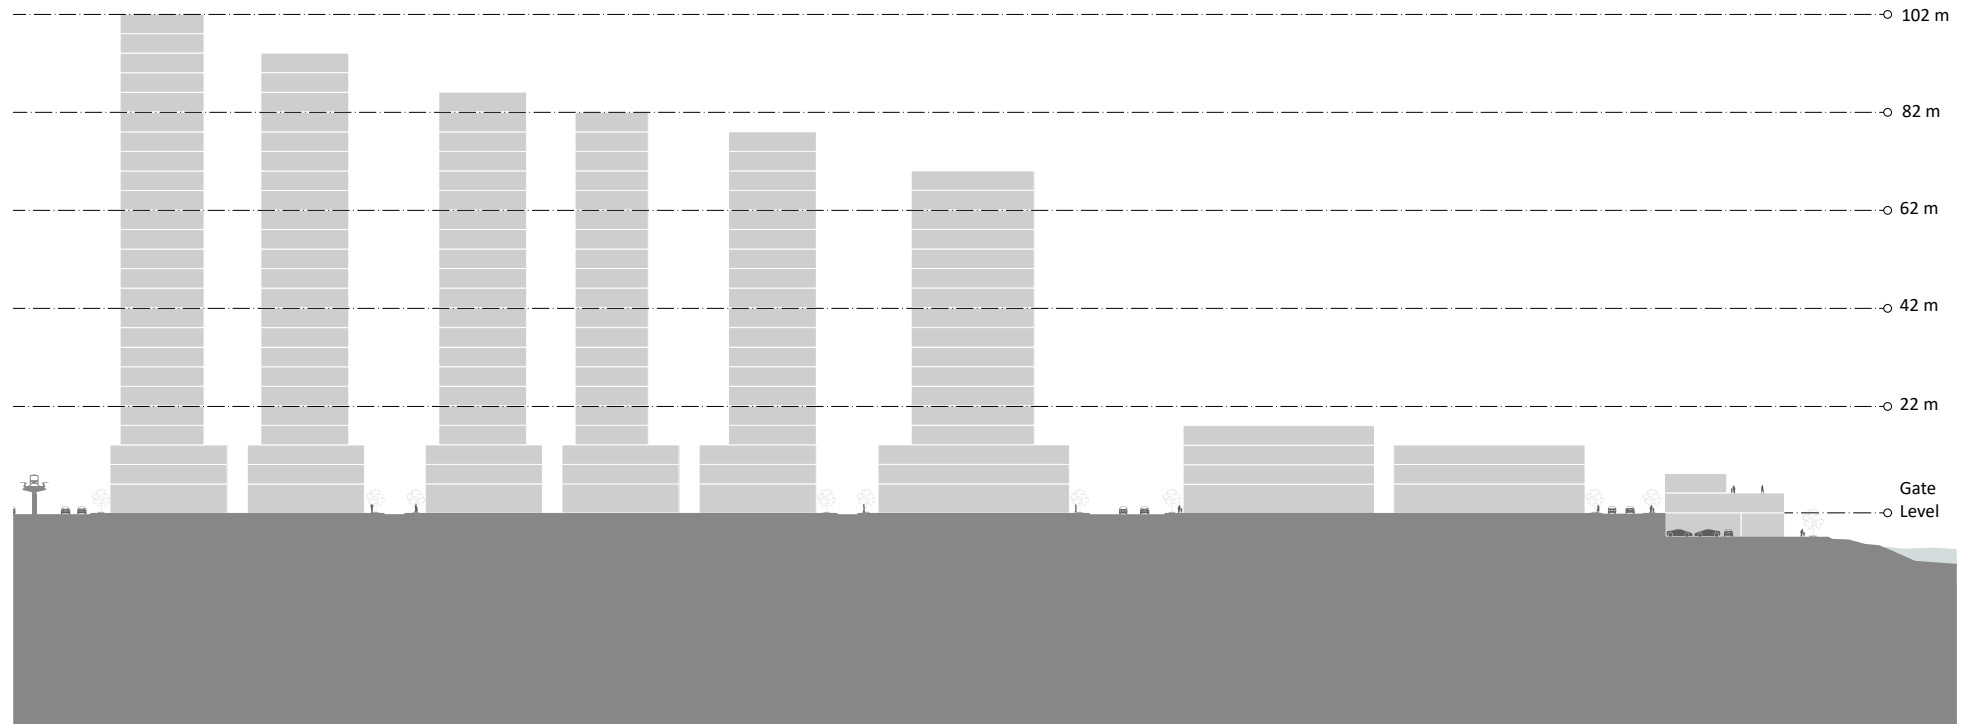

Figure 6.16: Example of a site wide section (Section A-A)