

2. Returned curb ramps types

Returned curb ramps are comprised of a single slope placed longitudinally from the crossing direction, creating two different levels of variable heights on its sides.

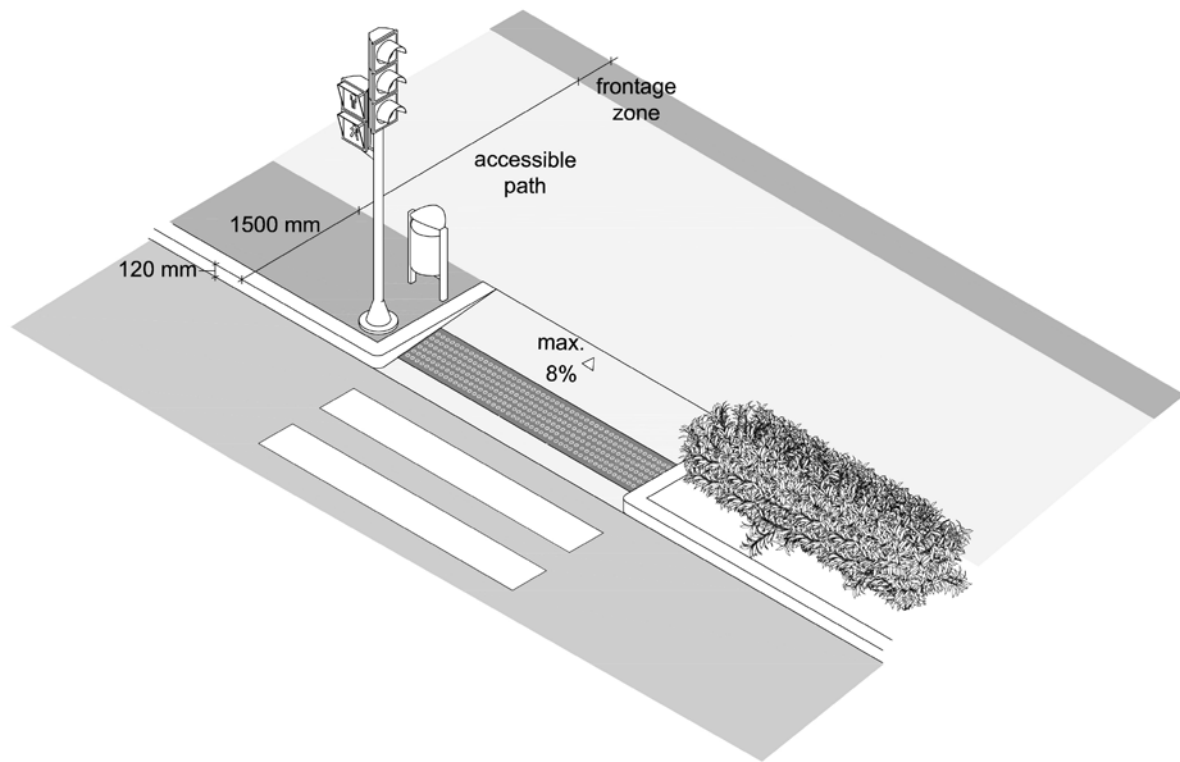

Figure 69. Example of returned curb cut

3. Curb ramps in curb extensions

This type is appropriate when the sidewalk is narrow. Extensions in the street corners can be created to reduce the pedestrian crossing distance.