

help to reduce energy costs and the associated carbon footprint. Typical activity in this area can involve;

- a) Energy auditing and performance assessment
- b) Real time monitoring
- c) Optimal design and redesign
- d) Understanding new and emerging activities
- e) Cost benefit analysis

Recognizing and promoting this area can lead to operational savings for the business if encouragement is given to energy efficiency projects

QC-Copy