

g. Site cleaning

1.6 Part 6 Training

1.6.1 Training of Operators

- A. Not later than three months before start of training the Contractor shall submit to the Engineer a training program indicating the periods of training, the qualifications and number of technicians, operators and labourers required for a proper and efficient operation and maintenance of the Plant.
- B. The Contractor shall be responsible for and arrange for the adequate training of personnel, delegated by the Department to the Project, in all aspects of installing equipment, checking installation, testing, operation and maintenance procedures, replacing equipment, documentation related to ordering spares from manufacturers, setting up a parts and equipment reference, stock keeping and stock control, receiving shipments and documentation related thereto.
- C. The Contractor shall make trainees fully aware of the contents of all drawings, technical literature, operation and maintenance manuals, fault finding chart for each item of the Plant before demonstrating any maintenance work. He shall set up, demonstrate and maintain for the duration of the training period all the correct daily, weekly, monthly procedures necessary for the proper operation and maintenance including log books at each station for recording hours, run duty charges, performance of equipment, date and type of inspections, readings of power and chemical consumption, flow rates, etc.
- D. The contractor shall provide training for PLC and RTU to the satisfaction of the Engineer, Clients and the representatives of operation and maintenance company.
- E. The Contractor shall demonstrate to trainees all routine procedures for the testing, checking and examining of equipment before putting in use.
- F. Daily records, in the form proposed and provided by the Contractor and approved by the Engineer, shall be kept by each trainee and the Contractor shall submit such records in weekly intervals to the Department and the Engineer.
- G. Should, during the course of training, it become obvious that any one of the delegated trainees is not capable to achieve the expected goal, the Contractor shall immediately inform the Department who in turn will provide replacement.
- H. After completion of the training program the Contractor shall submit a detailed evaluation of the personnel trained.