

Figure 140

Two types of colour of light are used within the same space; in this case to mark a conflict zone in the front part of the picture.