

Introduction

The translation of the master plan design vision into final construction requires distilling the information from a master plan level to a plot level. Only then can the individual plots develop in a coherent manner to achieve the plan vision.

Plot Development Guidelines are the link that provides this information and consistency to take place. This section covers the key information at a plot level for both development data and visual information. In addition to a few PDG examples.

Requirement Checklist

PMP SOS FMP

Plot Development Guidelines