

Figure 130. Vertical visual reach - far distance

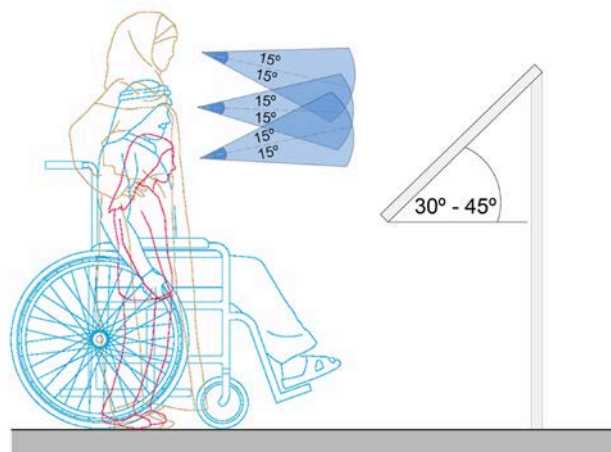

Figure 131. Inclined sign and tactile maps

8. Directional signs on a long route should be repeated sequentially starting from the decision-making point/junction, with a maximum spacing of 30 m. They serve as confirmation signs and repeater signs along the route.