

Note:

The “Abu Dhabi Public Realm & Street Lighting Handbook” development process brings together contributors representing varied viewpoints and interests to achieve consensus on lighting recommendations. While the contributors tried to administer the process and to establish policies and procedures to promote at first independency in the development of consensus, it must be said that a main basic input is to develop the lighting design and implementation process especially for the Emirate of Abu Dhabi. In this regard it makes no guaranty or warranty as to the accuracy or completeness of any information published herein.

The contributors disclaim liability for any injury to persons or property or for damages of any nature whatsoever, whether special, indirect, consequential or compensatory, directly or indirectly resulting from the publication, use of, or reliance on this document.

In issuing and making this document available, the contributors are not undertaking to render professional or any other kind of services for or on behalf of any person or entity. Nor are the contributors undertaking to perform any duty owed by any person or entity to someone else. Anyone using this document should rely on his or her own independent judgement or, as appropriate, seek the advice of competent professionals in determining the exercise of reasonable care in any given circumstances.

The contributors have no power, nor do they undertake, to police or enforce compliance with the contents of this document. Nor do the contributors list, certify, test or inspect products, designs or installations for compliance with this document. Any certifications or statements of compliance with the requirements of this document shall not be attributable to the contributors and is solely the responsibility of the certifier or maker of the statement.
